

How to migrate progress and certifications from IPM to CPI

Login as you usually would at <https://open.institute.pm>

You will automatically be taken to the new CPI website

You will given options on how to set up your new account

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the URL `project.info/open/migrate/#tab-ws-sessions`. The page header includes the Center for Project Innovation logo, a search bar, a "Talk to us" button, and navigation links: OPEN, Get Certified, Group Training, Free Resources, FAQs, About, and a Login / Sign up button. The main content area features a "Hi Demo" greeting and a message about the migration from the Institute of Project Management to the Center for Project Innovation. It explains that account details and course progress will be migrated and provides four options for how to proceed. A red arrow points to the first option: "Automatically create my account using my existing login details". To the right, there is a registration form with fields for email (pre-filled with "jane.d@mail.com") and password, and a "Register" button. Below the form is a video player showing a woman working on a laptop. The footer contains the Center for Project Innovation logo, a "Courses" section with links to OPEN online learning, Get certified, Masterclasses, Group training, and Military; a "Resources" section with links to Tools and templates, Featured articles, Code of ethics, About us, and FAQs; and a "Contact us" section with links to Contact us, ask@project.info, +1 (813) 508-4974, and Verify certificate. Social media icons for Facebook, LinkedIn, and YouTube are at the bottom right.

Hi Demo

The Institute of Project Management is now the Center for Project Innovation!

As part of the change we need to migrate your account details and course progress to our new online learning platform.

Don't worry, we've automated pretty much everything - all you need to is decide how you want to move.

Hi Demo

The Institute of Project Management is now the Center for Project Innovation!

As part of the change we need to migrate your account details and course progress to our new online learning platform.

Don't worry, we've automated pretty much everything - all you need to is decide how you want to move.

Duplicate your existing account

This is super simple - as soon as you confirm, we will create your new account and transfer your OPEN progress, notes, and certifications across for you.

Your username and password will remain the same.

Let's do it
